Rie Nakajima
Cyclic
21 March – 3 June 2018

Rie Nakajima is one of the most experimental artists working in the UK. Fusing sculpture and sound, her artistic practice is open to chance and the influence of others, raising important questions about the definition of art. Nakajima makes pieces often in direct response to architectural space, using a combination of kinetic devices, musical instruments and found objects. Ikon’s exhibition consists entirely of new work and includes a number of performances in collaboration with other artists.

“I work/communicate with architectural environments, and there is always something new to discover with sounds and objects. I would like to make the exhibition at Ikon flexible and open, with the potential to change and transform at any moment.”
Born in Yokohama in 1976, Nakajima studied art history and aesthetics at Tokyo National University of Fine Arts and Music (BA), sculpture at Chelsea College of Art and Design (BA) and Slade School of Fine art (MFA). Nakajima lives and works in London, and is very active especially in the area of sound art, for instance she often features in the programme for Cafe OTO, Dalston, where she has worked alongside other artists including Steve Beresford, David Cunningham, Anghard Davies, Guy De Bièvre, Ute Kanngiesser, David Toop and Keiko Yamamoto.

Rie Nakajima’s 2014 exhibition at noshowspace, London, saw her work with a bric-a-brac assortment that might be found at a car boot sale: food tins, a disco ball, porcelain bowls, a whistle, ball bearings and a large yellow sponge. She attached electrical devices and motors to animate them, so they performed cycles of whirring, drumming or vibrating, or simply of slight shifts between movement and stillness.

In a similar vein, the artist has made a number of visits to Birmingham in preparation for her exhibition – short residencies at Ikon saw her gather found objects from the surrounding Brindleyplace estate whilst familiarising herself with the gallery architecture. She combined the objects, largely made from concrete and metal, to make new kinetic assemblages, vehicles for a sonic adventure, one with an unknown destination.

Improvisation is integral to Nakajima's artistic practice: "starting from where I know, ending up somewhere else". Likewise, performance and collaboration are key and often take the form of experiments with small objects spread out on the floor, whereby she accumulates or subtracts sound by setting the objects in motion, picking them up and moving them around. In this way a material modesty is counterbalanced by a refreshingly free artistic proposition:

“I would like to try to think/find a way to exhibit experiences I have had from music activities and rebuild/interpret the situation at the gallery space and re activate the happenings applying kinetic movements and objects and with performances.”

For Ikon, Nakajima has curated a series of free performances including her music project O YAMA O with Keiko Yamamoto which explores music with no genre. Nakajima will participate in all events, collaborating with artists such as Pierre Berthet, David Cunningham, Max Eastley, Akira Sakata, David Toop and Keiko Yamamoto.

Live performances:

_Rie Nakajima_
Wednesday 21 March, 6.30-7pm – FREE, drop in
Rie Nakajima makes a special performance at the opening of her new exhibition _Cyclic._
David Cunningham and Rie Nakajima
Wednesday 11 April, 5pm-late – FREE, drop in
David Cunningham plays electric guitar, through a delay system which allows the notes played to recycle infinitely, overlapping in different rhythms and integrated within the similar process of Rie Nakajima’s installation. This event is a durational performance and visitors can drop in at any time.

O YAMA O
Saturday 21 April
1-2pm – live performance – FREE, drop in
3-4.30pm – film screening – FREE, drop in
Centrala and Slow Boat, Minerva Works, 158 Fazeley Street, Birmingham, Digbeth B5 5RS
Rie Nakajima and Keiko Yamamoto, vocalist, artist and co-founder of Cafe OTO, perform as O YAMA O. While Yamamoto sings, whispers, roars, walks and dances, Nakajima makes a soundscape of objects arranged by hand. The screening includes films selected by O YAMA O. Part of Flatpack Film Festival Optical Sound programme.

Akira Sakata and Rie Nakajima
Tuesday 1 May, 7-8pm – FREE, booking essential
‘Living in a bubble’ is Japanese saxophonist Akira Sakata’s statement for his activity. Rie Nakajima performs with him for the first time outside Japan.
I think this installation could be a very newly experienced sound world. - Akira Sakata

David Toop and Rie Nakajima
Tuesday 22 May, 6-8pm – FREE, booking essential
David Toop and Rie Nakajima work collaboratively in the fields of time, cooking and flower arranging but there are no clocks, no food to eat, no flowers, only the assemblage of temporary architecture, the sculpting of materials and the awakening of hibernating beings.

Pierre Berthet and Rie Nakajima, Dead Plants & Living Objects
Sunday 3 June, 3-4pm – FREE, drop in
Pierre Berthet and Rie Nakajima create various ways to vibrate things so that their acoustic shadows dance around: invisible air volumes that reshape constantly, move in the space, enter in the most secret places and inside ourselves.

Cafe OTO at Ikon
Sunday 3 June, 7-9pm, £5, booking essential
Yorks Cafe at Ikon
Café OTO, the acclaimed home for creative new music based in Dalston, London, comes to Ikon for an evening of music to mark the end of Rie Nakajima’s exhibition.

Book online at ikon-gallery.org or call the gallery on 0121 248 0708. All events take place at Ikon unless otherwise stated.

The exhibition is accompanied by a limited edition box, curated by Rie Nakajima. The edition includes contributions of writing, drawing and photography from participating artists: Pierre Berthet, Max Eastley, Akira Sakata, David Toop and Keiko Yamamoto.

The exhibition is supported by the Japan Foundation and The Great Britain Sasakawa Foundation.
Social Media Handles:
Instagram, Twitter and Facebook: @ikongallery #IkonGallery

Note to Editors:

1. Ikon exhibition opening: Wednesday 21 March 2018

3. Ikon is an internationally acclaimed contemporary art venue situated in central Birmingham. Established in 1964 by a group of artists, Ikon is an educational charity and works to encourage public engagement with contemporary art through exhibiting new work in a context of debate and participation. The gallery programme features artists from around the world and a variety of media is represented, including sound, film, mixed media, photography, painting, sculpture and installation. Ikon’s off-site programme develops dynamic relationships between art, artists and audiences outside the gallery. Projects vary enormously in scale, duration and location, challenging expectations of where art can be seen and by whom. Education is at the heart of Ikon’s activities, stimulating public interest in and understanding of contemporary visual art. Through a variety of talks, tours, workshops and seminars, Ikon’s Learning Team aims to build dynamic relationships with audiences, enabling visitors to engage with, discuss and reflect on contemporary art. ikon-gallery.org

4. Ikon is open Tuesday – Sunday and Bank Holiday Mondays, 11am - 5pm. Admission is free. Ikon Gallery is supported using public funding from Arts Council England and Birmingham City Council. For the latest news and events follow @ikongallery on Twitter, Facebook and Instagram.

5. For more information or high-res images please contact Rebecca Small, Head of Communications or Emily Luxford, Communications Manager at Ikon on 0121 248 0708 or email r.small@ikon-gallery.org or e.luxford@ikon-gallery.org
Image reproduction terms and conditions:

- Credit information must accompany each Photo that you publish: credits are as per their file titles with the credit 'Ikon Gallery, Birmingham, ikon-gallery.org'
- No cropping or text overlay of any kind is permitted without permission
- Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, you will have the non-exclusive license to use each Photo for one-time print and online editorial purposes only
- Except as expressly permitted by this Agreement, you may not copy, reproduce, market, sell, distribute, publish, display, perform, modify, create derivative works of, download, or transmit, in any form or by any means, electronic, optical, mechanical or otherwise, any Photos. This restriction includes the distribution, marketing and selling of unauthorised "hard copies" of Photos and the distribution, marketing and selling of Photos through any electronic medium or any electronic storage device.
- You may store Photos electronically until such time as the Photo is used in your publication. You are not allowed to enter Photos into a database or hold them longer than you need to for publication.
O YAMA O, Keiko Yamamoto and Rie Nakajima. Photo by Mike Cameron.

Rie Nakajima (2016). Photograph by Marie Roux