IKON

An Overview of Ikon

1. Brief History

Ikon Gallery is one of Britain's foremost galleries for presenting innovative contemporary visual arts. Renowned nationally and internationally for its exhibition, learning and off-site programmes, it has received numerous awards and prizes in recognition of its commitment to increasing access to challenging new art work.

Since Ikon first opened in Birmingham's Bull Ring Centre in the 1960s, it has grown in size and reputation, moving premises four times. Ikon is a very different organisation now to that which arrived at its gallery premises on Brindleyplace, Birmingham in early 1998. It is more outgoing and internationalist than ever before, whilst at the same time being locally engaged and committed to its role as a producer. As a venue Ikon Gallery is increasingly acknowledged as the heart of an extensive network of activity. Its off-site programme – including projects located in the public realm, touring and collaborations and educational outreach – is crucial to Ikon's identity. Ikon, as ever, asserts a dynamic relationship with art, aspiring as much to accessibility as it does to excellence.

Ikon has galleries on two floors, providing 440 m² of exhibition space. There is a dedicated learning events room, a resource area for interpretative material, a popular and successful café run by Yorks which opens onto a terrace, a bookshop, workshops and offices. The building offers full access for people with disabilities.

Regarded as one of Arts Council's 'flag-ship' contemporary art organisations, Ikon receives core funding from Arts Council England and Birmingham City Council. Ikon is a limited company and a registered educational charity.

Identified within its current Strategic Plan 2018-22, the goals are:

Continued development of an artistic programme that is experimental, and of the highest quality, engaging on local, national and international levels.

Increased focus on audience development at local, national and international levels

An increasingly prominent role in the cultural life of Birmingham and the region

Greater Financial Sustainability

Sustained organisational integrity, alongside possibilities for change

2. Artistic and Organisational Policy

Ikon is committed to the presentation of an innovative contemporary arts programme of national and international relevance, within a vital regional context.

Ikon is committed equally to the needs of artists and audiences. It actively seeks opportunities for the production of new art work. It is committed to the presentation of art work according to principles of excellence, aiming to make it as accessible as possible to audiences from a broad range of social backgrounds.

Ikon is the centre for an expansive and integrated programme, including offsite and touring projects, educational and interpretative activities, as well as gallery-based exhibitions.

Ikon's management and organisational structure is concerned essentially with the most efficient facilitation of the artistic programme.

3. Artistic programme

Ikon's gallery programme now consists of approximately four exhibitions per year, in addition to occasional performances and other events. There have been a number of surveys of established artists including Arturo Herrera, Hurvin Anderson, Imran Qureshi, Julian Opie, Cornelia Parker, On Kawara, Giovanni Anselmo, Frederic Bruly Bouabré, Langlands & Bell, as well as early outings for emerging artists such as Alice Cattaneo, Juneau Projects, Ignasi Aballi, Christiane Baumgartner, Bedwyr Williams and Ruth Claxton. Across the board exhibitions often feature new work, often commissioned by Ikon.

Our video programme has developed considerably, reflecting our acknowledgement of the foothold video now enjoys in contemporary art practice. The galleries themselves have often been the location for performance work, including artists such as Oleg Kulik, Tadasu Takemine, Marie Kool, Lorna Stewart, Mark Lockett and Richard Jenkinson.

A significant recent development in Ikon's gallery programme has seen the presentation of historical material amongst exhibitions otherwise of work by contemporary/living artists including Polly Apfelbaum, Francis Alys and Oliver Beer. In this way we convey how understandings of art history and contemporary practice inform each other, thus taking a leaf from programmes of performing arts – music, theatre, ballet etc. – in which old and new work are usually mixed.

Ikon Off-site has been a consistent and integral part of the artistic programme since 2000. It aims to make the diversity of contemporary art accessible to audiences who might never normally enter a traditional gallery space. The programme has involved a Slow Boat as part of a three year community outreach project, Looping the Loop.

4. Learning

Learning is at the heart of Ikon's activities, stimulating public interest in and understanding of contemporary visual art. The Learning team aim to build a meaningful relationship with Ikon's audience enabling them to access, discuss and reflect on contemporary art.

Overall, our learning activity asserts the importance of personal experience celebrates creativity and engenders an enthusiasm for knowledge. Through the availability of various interpretative prompts – curatorial comment, participatory activity, artists' writings etc. – imaginative audience response is encouraged. Talks, tours, off-site projects, targeted workshops and seminars, each designed to build and develop ongoing dialogue, provide the actual space in which this diverse learning activity takes place.

This core programme, along with a variety of innovative off-site projects in schools and community settings, plays a key role in genuinely engaging with people of all backgrounds. Ikon's audience is diverse, ranging from postgraduate art students to first-time gallery-goers and activity is designed with such a range of interest groups and needs in mind. A current major initiative involves Ikon's Youth Programme participating in a programme of activity focussed on a slow boat on the local canal network.

5. Marketing & Communications

Marketing has focused on a number of key areas including raising the press and media profile of the entire programme of activity, both in arts and non-arts press/media. Off-site and Learning programmes have been integrated into the marketing strategy, raising the profile of these areas of Ikon's work and positioning them with equal importance alongside the exhibition programme. Digital and printed material has been developed strategically, to publicise different areas of the programme and to ensure consistency and reiteration of brand identity. This work has increased profile dramatically, with Ikon featuring in major press and media on a regular basis. Audience development strategies have focused on collaborations with numerous organisations including marketing consortia, corporate partners, arts organisations and festivals locally, nationally and internationally. Ikon's web site, re-launched in 2013, now includes interpretative resources and an on-line shop selling Ikon catalogues and limited editions.

6. Shop

Ikon Shop is Birmingham's only specialist art bookshop, stocking a wide range of books, cards, artists' multiples, magazines and gifts relating to art, design, photography, fashion, architecture and contemporary culture.

Ikon's Shop is the only place to find the complete stock of past Ikon catalogues. Limited edition artists' prints and Ikon publications are also available to buy online, along with a range of books, cards and seasonal stock.

7. Management

Ikon is run by a Board, the composition of which aims to reflect a broad spectrum of expertise: artistic, business and administrative. There is a statutory Risk Committee that oversees financial and personnel matters.

The Director has overall responsibility for Ikon's activity. They are concerned particularly with shaping artistic and organisational policy, developing and maintaining links with external organisations, profile and fundraising and ensuring that other members of staff work with a high degree of personal responsibility.

The Deputy Director leads the commercial and financial functions of the organisation and is responsible for personnel, operational management, administrative procedures and structures, insurance, legal issues, and contributes to development and fundraising. With the Director, they are involved in the formulation of strategic, financial and managerial planning. The Deputy Director is Company Secretary.

The Director directly manages the Exhibitions and Learning team. They work closely with Heads of Departments on the formulation, organisation and administration of exhibitions, off-site/touring, education and interpretation programmes. The Senior Exhibitions Manager and Exhibitions Assistants provide administrative support for projects undertaken by the Director and organise transport and touring of exhibitions initiated by Ikon.

The Learning Co-ordinators and Project Producer (Looping the Loop) work with the Head of Learning to ensure the accessibility of Ikon projects in all programme areas. The Visitor Services Manager manages a core team of Information Assistants who act as receptionists and invigilators for the galleries. The Visitor Services Manager manages the Front of House rota and liaises with the Head of Learning to facilitate any training requirements.

The Head of Communications is responsible for developing and implementing Ikon's marketing and communications strategy to achieve the organisation's objectives as well as sponsorship activities. The Exhibitions team works closely with the Head of Communications whose primary function is to implement the gallery's marketing and PR strategy. The Communications Manager, Communications and Events Assistant and an external PR agency, Pelham Communications, support the Head of Communications in the implementation of Ikon's marketing and communications plans. The Head of Communications is supported by the Events Coordinator who organises hires and events.

The Deputy Director manages the Communications, Facilities, Front of House, Shop and Administration teams. The Head of Operations is responsible for the maintenance and security of all the gallery's assets, health and safety, Front of House and installation of exhibitions and other projects.

The Head of Operations is supported a Senior Technical Manager and two Technical & Office Assistants who provide technical support for all the galleries activities, inside and out of the building and the building systems.

The Head of Finance works closely with the Deputy Director to ensure financial procedures and controls are in place and adhered to, producing management accounts on a quarterly basis. The PA/Office Manager provides administrative assistance to the Director and Deputy Director, manages the main office and with the Deputy Director manages the personnel and human resources function for Ikon.

8. Equal Opportunities

Ikon is an equal opportunities organisation. In its management structure and as an employer, the gallery is pledged to ensure equal opportunities for all, regardless of age, race, gender, disability, marital status or sexual orientation. With respect to its provision of services, its policies and procedures, Ikon seeks not to discriminate, either intentionally or unintentionally, against a group or individual. Equal opportunity of employment applies to the recruitment, training, pay and conditions, work allocation and promotion of all Ikon's staff and occasional workers. Ikon continues to be proactive in its endeavour to be an equal opportunities organisation.

IKON

Equal Opportunities Policy

Policy Statement

Ikon Gallery is an equal opportunity organisation. In its management structure, as an employer, in its selection of exhibitions and in its provision of services, the gallery is pledged to ensure equal opportunity for all, regardless of age, race, gender, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, or belief.

With respect to its provision of services, its policies and procedures, Ikon seeks not to discriminate, either intentionally or unintentionally, against any group or individual. Equal opportunity of employment applies to the recruitment, training and development, pay and conditions, work allocation and promotion of all Ikon's staff and occasional workers. Ikon will comply with its legal obligations relating to the Race Discrimination Act, the Sex Discrimination Act, the Equal Pay Act and the Disability Act.

All employees are expected to apply these principles in their own work areas.

This policy will be implemented by ensuring that:

Management

1. The equal opportunities policy is endorsed at the highest level of the organisation and outlines the expectations that all staff will apply the principles in their own work.
2. The Board of Directors and staff reflect as far as possible the diversity of the population of its area of benefit and operation.
3. All existing (and potential) employees and Board members receive a copy of the policy statement and have an awareness of what it means in practice through induction and/or training.
4. The plan is regularly reviewed and adjustments are made to improve practices.
5. Managers demonstrate a commitment to the policy in all areas of responsibility, including policy development, personnel management and customer care by providing positive leadership. Equal opportunity is part of all staff performance appraisals.
6. Ikon presents positive images of the diversity of staff and visitors in all publicity and promotional materials.

7. The annual report and other relevant publications provide updates on progress in the area of equal opportunities and diversity.

Programme

1. Ikon will select work on the basis of its suitability for a particular project. Exhibitions are never organised on the basis of race, gender, geography or disability however Ikon will organise and present a programme that includes artists from different cultural backgrounds and artists with disabilities.
2. Appropriate adjustments are made to take account of disability and accessibility issues for each exhibition with regard to e.g. labeling (point size not less than 16pt), turning circle for wheelchairs, alternative access to exhibits in tower room etc., whilst preserving the integrity of the artists' works and the exhibition.
3. Projects inside and off-site are accessible to all sectors of the community.
4. The exhibitions and education projects are promoted as widely as possible, targeting relevant groups where appropriate, where funding allows.

Recruitment

1. Applications are encouraged from a culturally diverse range of applicants, advertising as widely as possible using jargon free English on arts websites and on Ikon's web site. Subject to budget limitations. (2a)
2. Job advertisements state clearly that Ikon is an equal opportunities employer and that it welcomes applications from all sectors of the community.
3. Accurate job descriptions are written for every post.
4. Clear short-listing and selection criteria apply to all applicants and these are listed in a 'person specification'.
5. Staff involved in the recruitment process are familiar with equal opportunities in recruitment and selection through training or briefing.
6. Decisions are recorded and kept for at least six months.
7. Those carrying out interviews are involved throughout the recruitment process.

Training & Development

1. Training and development are provided to improve and enhance employee skills targeted to meet the needs of the organisation and the individual.

2. Induction training highlights the existence of the equal opportunities policy and what it means in practice in their work area. Training in equal opportunities issues will be made available from time to time for staff.
3. The practical arrangements for training take account of the different needs of the workforce including accessibility of the venue, timing of the training day, suitability of the training method and materials according to staff needs.
4. Where possible working arrangements are flexible to meet the needs of e.g. people with domestic responsibilities or cultural needs.
5. The Organisation (see staff handbook section 5.7) contains a clear policy stating that discrimination, harassment and bullying will not be tolerated and that action will be taken when this occurs.
6. There is a procedure in the Staff Handbook that details the handling of complaints. Complaints from visitors and staff are taken seriously and investigated immediately. Action taken is made known to all parties involved.
7. Staff are aware that harassment and bullying take many forms. Managers make it known that they recognize these issues and take them seriously. Managers understand that they carry an additional responsibility to show positive leadership on these issues.

External Relations

1. Suppliers should know that Ikon is an equal opportunities organisation.
2. When the organisation liaises with the job centre or recruitment agencies it is made explicit that Ikon is committed to equal opportunities.
3. Ikon builds relationships with minority or under-represented groups to encourage participation in activities through its education programme, [e.g. Birmingham City Council initiatives: Arts Champion Scheme]
4. Ikon will campaign for funding to support improvements in access to ensure that Ikon services cater for as many customer groups as possible –spoken guides where appropriate, access plan etc.
5. Ikon will encourage participation in its activities by groups not traditionally involved through a range of initiatives including: a diverse exhibition and education programme, free admission to all exhibitions, targeted mailing when appropriate, developing Ikon's profile in Birmingham, working with the Birmingham City Council on special initiatives such as Arts Champion Scheme and other programmes, and implementing a generic marketing programme within funding available.

Monitoring

1. Ikon's equal opportunities policy will be monitored through collecting statistics on recruitment, short-listing, staff turnover and appointment in respect of disability, gender and ethnic origin.
2. Visitor surveys conducted from time to time according to funds available.
3. Ensuring that complaints are brought to the attention of senior management and that a record is kept of all complaints and responses to them.

Guidelines on Completing Application Form

Section 1 – Personal Details

Please complete the personal details section clearly giving as many details as possible so that we are able to contact you about your application.

Section 2 – Present Employer & Section 4 - Previous Employer

Information is required on your past and present employer. You should give a brief summary of the key responsibilities and duties of the job and reasons for changing jobs. If there are gaps in your employment record please give dates and details.

If you have recently left school, college, university or a training programme and you have not yet had a full time or permanent post, then please give details of any other voluntary or holiday work or work experience that you may have undertaken, together with a brief summary of your responsibilities or experience.

Whatever the job, emphasise and focus on the experience which demonstrates the skills and qualities you've developed which match those needed in the job you are applying for.

Section 3 – General and Further Education

Please give details of any form of education that you have undertaken and list qualifications that were obtained. This also includes details of any professional or technical qualifications relevant to the post that you are applying for. If the course did not lead to a qualification being received you should still include this information.

Section 4 – Previous Employment and Work Experience

Please detail all previous work, whether paid or voluntary, which you have undertaken (list most recent first). Highlight (*) the two most relevant to this vacancy and note what you achieved.

Section 5 – Specific Information in support of your application

Explain why you have applied for this position. Offer evidence of your suitability e.g. courses undertaken, work shadowing, skills, strengths and experiences. Emphasise why you consider yourself to be a strong candidate. The emphasis here is on what you have to offer the job, not what the job offers you. Try to give an overview, usually there is more than a single reason why you would be a strong candidate.

Section 6 – Additional information

Please detail any additional information, not covered elsewhere, which will give strength to your application. Give reasons (but not excuses) for anything unexplained on your form, e.g. repeat years, failed subjects etc, be positive by describing what you learned from the experience.

Section 7 – References

Please give the names and addresses of two referees who are able to provide a reference on the suitability for the post which you have applied for. Your referees must be able to comment on your past employment and recent work performance in relation to the selection criteria. It is advised that your most recent, direct supervisor/line manager is nominated as one of your referees.

If you are unemployed or unable to use a previous employer as a referee (if the employer no longer exists) you should give a name of a referee who can verify your good character. This should not be a family relation or friend.

If you have recently left school, college or University you should give the head teacher, principal or tutor as your first referee.

References are usually requested automatically for all short listed candidates, unless you have stated otherwise. Please ensure that you tick the boxes that ask if we can call for a reference prior to interview.

We would strongly suggest that you provide a least one referee that can be approached prior to the interview stage.

Section 8 – Interviews

Please tell us if you are unable to attend an interview on the specific date advertised or, in the case where interview date is to be confirmed, tell us about your availability for the 6 weeks following on from the deadline for applications forms (e.g. any holidays).

Section 9 – Privacy Statement

Ikon is committed to adhering to the protection of personal information as outlined in the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR). The personal data provided during an application process will be retained for a period of at least six months or, if required by law, for as long as is required.

Section 10 – General & Declaration

Please make sure you check your details and information given are correct and sign the declaration. If you provide any false information or fail to supply details, this will result in your application not being pursued or may invalidate any offer of employment or lead to termination of employment.

Equal Opportunities Monitoring Form

Ikon is committed to a policy of Equal Opportunity in its employment practices. The aim of the policy is to eliminate unlawful and unfair discrimination on any grounds including gender, ethnicity, age and disability. Please answer all questions fully. The answers you provide will be treated in confidence and will play no part in the selection process.

Safer Recruitment to Protect the Vulnerable

Ikon requires all staff to a criminal record check through the Government's Disclosure and Barring Service, in accordance with Ikon's Protection Policy. You will be required to provide the necessary documentation for the checks to be carried out if you are successful in your application.

Asylum and Immigration

All job offers will be subject to confirmation that you are permitted to work in the UK in accordance with the provisions of the Asylum and Immigration Act 1996.

Under Section 8 of the Act it is a criminal offence to employ someone who is subject to immigration control, but who does not have permission to live or work in the UK. If you are offered employment you will be required to provide evidence of your entitlement to work in the U.K. before your employment can be confirmed.
